Dara Lindenbaum is a senior associate at Sandler Reiff Lamb Rosenstein & Birkenstock. She advises federal, state and local political committees and candidates; state parties; 527 organizations; 501(c)(3) and (c)(4) organizations and for-profit corporations. She counsels clients on complying with state and federal campaign finance and election laws; ethics and gift rules; and lobbying and ethics compliance. Dara also advises non-profit organizations on charitable solicitations, corporate governance issues, securing tax-exempt status with the IRS, and the scope of permissible political activities. She serves as outside general counsel for a number of organizations and works with directors, boards and staff to structure their programs and navigate the complex legal and compliance landscape. She also assists clients with general business matters including negotiating and drafting contracts, trademark work, corporate governance and employment issues.

Dara represents clients in complex election law, contract law and trademark law cases in state and federal courts and state and federal agencies.
